Your Travel Itinerary

The "Your Travel Itinerary" flyer is distributed daily on the long-distance trains of Deutsche Bahn AG and contains information on the train's route (the stations where the train stops, together with arrival and departure times) and onward connections. There is space for advertisements in the brochures, which is of particular interest to advertisers who wish to reach a target group that enjoys travel, leisure, and culture. Travelers use (and reuse) the flyer, which guarantees that many people see the ad. In this clever way, travelers looking for route and destination information come in contact with advertising messages. In addition, the possibility of advertising on select routes means that the flyer is also very effective for regional customers.
